Black Powder Revolvers

History. Uberti is today's oldest-running manufacturer of Old West firearms. Founded in 1959 in Gardone, Italy, it has operated uninterrupted until today by offering modern enthusiasts the opportunity to own and shoot premium-quality replicas of historical firearms. On this side of the ocean, Uberti has quickly become a cherished piece of Americana by appearing at the side of heroes and villains in some of the most beloved Western-movie classics. A passion for American history and the power to invest in the best materials and machinery has made Uberti replicas exact to the smallest detail and better than the originals in function and durability.

Take to the field. Whether you are a competitive cowboy-action shooter, a working rancher or a discriminating collector, Uberti is the standard against which all other replicas are judged. For instance, our 1873 lever-action is by far the preferred competition rifle for Cowboy Action Shooting, while our 1873 Cattleman is both today's bestselling 1873 revolver and the most accurate replica of its iconic predecessor. Whatever the use, an Uberti gun will answer today's needs equally or better than the firearms we replicate did 150 years ago. But this should be no surprise: Uberti has been endorsing and sponsoring the American Western lifestyle for well over half a century, and it is with this enthusiasm and respect that we wish to carry the tradition forward.

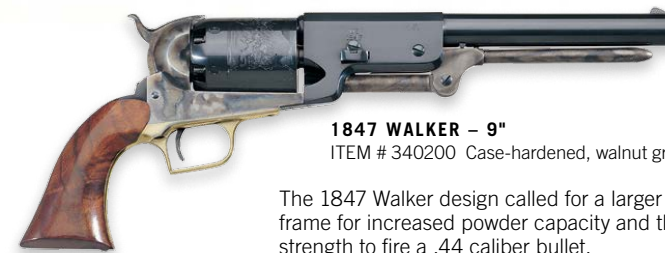

We realize that successful dealerships need to have adequate access to "on-demand" inventory for the full line of Uberti firearms—which we will always continue to strive to deliver in a timely manner. But we also understand that a large number of customer requests center around a focused group of popular products. In an effort to ensure quick delivery of these core Uberti firearm models we've focused our resources on increasing product availability in this high-demand group. This is our Core Product Commitment to dealers nationwide and that select lineup of great Uberti revolvers and rifles include:

- ▶ 1873 Cattleman II Brass
- ▶ 1873 Cattleman El Patrón Competition
- ▶ 1873 Cattleman Hombre
- ▶ 1873 Stallion
- ▶ 1858 New Army
- ▶ 1875 Army Outlaw
- ▶ 1873 Rifle
- ▶ Silverboy Lever Action

Our Core Products have been identified by this logo and a ▶ in front of each applicable item number.

1847 Walker Black Powder Revolver

1847 WALKER – 9"
ITEM # 340200 Case-hardened, walnut grip

The 1847 Walker design called for a larger frame for increased powder capacity and the strength to fire a .44 caliber bullet.

1847 WALKER

| ITEM NUMBER | MODEL | CALIBER | BARREL LENGTH | MATERIALS | MSRP |
|-------------|--------|---------|---------------|---------------------------------|-------|
| 340200 | Walker | .44 | 9" | C/H Frame, Steel B/S, Brass T/G | $459 |

SPECIFICATIONS: Cylinder: 6-shot, engraved Number of grooves: 7 Twist: Left BBL: Round Total Length: 15.7" Weight: 4.5 lbs. Finish: Blue Grip: 1-pc Walnut

The Walker's large capacity cylinder allows it to hold up to 60 grains of black powder and offers easy access to the percussion caps.

The Walker was one of the first revolvers fitted with a loading lever. Colt later added a loading lever latch near the muzzle.

1848 Dragoon Black Powder Evolved

1848 WHITNEYVILLE DRAGON – 7½"
ITEM # 340830 Case-hardened, walnut grip

The original Dragoon was manufactured for Colt by Eli Whitney.

1848 1ST MODEL DRAGON – 7½"
ITEM # 340800 Case-hardened, walnut grip

The 1st Model Dragoon utilizes oval cylinder slots.

1848 2ND MODEL DRAGON – 7½"
ITEM # 340810 Case-hardened, walnut grip

The 2nd Model Dragoon utilizes squared cylinder slots.

1848 3RD MODEL DRAGON – 7½"
ITEM # 340860 Case-hardened, walnut grip

The 3rd Model Dragoon utilizes squared cylinder slots and has a rounded trigger guard.

1848 DRAGON

| ITEM NUMBER | MODEL | CALIBER | BARREL LENGTH | MATERIALS | MSRP |
|-------------|--------------|---------|---------------|--|-------|
| 340800 | First | .44 | 7.5" | Case-hardened Frame, Brass B/S and T/G | $449 |
| 340810 | Second | .44 | 7.5" | Case-hardened Frame, Brass B/S and T/G | $449 |
| 340860 | Third | .44 | 7.5" | Case-hardened Frame, Brass B/S and T/G | $449 |
| 340830 | Whitneyville | .44 | 7.5" | C/H Frame, Steel B/S, Brass T/G | $459 |

SPECIFICATIONS: Cylinder: 6-shot, engraved Number of grooves: 7 Twist: Left BBL: Round Total Length: 13.4" Weight: 4.1 lbs. Finish: Blue Grip: 1-pc Walnut

The Dragoons were the first Colt revolvers to feature a latch at the muzzle for the loading lever. This prevented the loading lever from falling during firing.

The Walker and all Dragoon models have integrated loading cut-outs for easy and secure seating of the percussion caps.

Modern machinery and improved materials result in a stronger and more precise metal-to-metal fit on Uberti's replica firearms.

1851 Navy & 1860 Army Conversion

Percussion-to-Cartridge Conversions

1851 NAVY CONVERSION — 7½"
ITEM # 341360 Case-hardened, walnut grip

Original cap-and-ball cylinders were altered or replaced by a cartridge cylinder with a loading gate and new breech face.

1860 ARMY CONVERSION — 5½"
ITEM # 341364 Case-hardened, walnut grip

Colt introduced the Richards-Mason conversion, which involved installing a conversion ring for accepting metallic cartridges.

The frames on Uberti's conversion revolvers are retro-fitted with loading gates to accommodate cartridges, exactly like the originals.

The conversion revolvers were also fitted with ejector rods, a necessity for removing fired casings from the cylinder.

1873 Single Action Cattleman

Single-Action Army Revolvers

1873 SINGLE ACTION CATTLEMAN NEW MODEL (NM) VS. OLD MODEL (OM)

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

The New Model (NM) Cattleman features a slightly higher fixed front sight and an oblong ejector-plunger grip, while the Old Model (OM) features a shorter front sight and a round ejector-plunger grip.

Uberti offers a variety of 1873 Cattleman single-action revolvers in .45 Colt, .357 Magnum, .44-40 and .44 Magnum. Many finishes can be had in either the "Old Model" (OM) with a screw cylinder-pin retainer (above left) or the "New Model" (NM) with a spring-loaded cylinder-pin retainer (above right).

1873 DESPERADO — 5½"

THE CATTLEMAN II - RETRACTABLE FIRING PIN

Single-action army revolvers are now available from Uberti that are not only aesthetically accurate but also offer the benefits of a modern transfer bar revolver—all made possible by the introduction of a retractable firing pin.

While at rest, the firing pin floats free in its guide, exerting no pressure towards the chamber.

With the hammer at full cock, the sear shifts into position to engage the firing pin once the trigger is pulled.

When the trigger is pulled from a fully-cocked position, the sear engages the firing pin, locking it in the forward position until the trigger is released.

Given the historic breakthroughs achieved with the Henry rifle, Winchester improved on its design to make it even more useful on both the range and the battlefield. In 1866, they introduced Nelson King's patented spring-steel loading gate, as well as a wood fore-end for added comfort. These changes led to the creation of the "Yellowboy," the earliest version of the quintessential cowboy rifle whose lines and basic functioning survive to this day.

The Uberti 150th Anniversary Edition features the unique transitional "flat-sided" receiver profile found only in very early 1866 rifles. The receiver's shape falls in fact somewhere in between that of the Henry and that of the later, more rounded cowboy rifle (see next page). It is the exact replica of an 1866-dated rifle with the very low serial number 13546, now part of the Uberti collection.

In an attempt to gain military adoption, Winchester presented the Yellowboy rifle to government boards in the US and abroad. This is a reason why several lavishly-engraved specimens survive, as striking now as they would have been to the officials to whom they were presented. Our 150th Anniversary model replicates a rifle with a particularly fine engraving pattern, almost certainly executed by an American artist. Our engraving is hand-chased so as to ensure that each piece is wholly unique.

1874 Sharps

The Original Buffalo Gun

SHARPS EXTRA DELUXE – 32"

ITEM # 71100 AAA-Grade satin walnut, octagonal barrel

Uberti's Sharps Extra Deluxe features intricate engraving and the finest select AAA-Grade satin walnut stock and fore-end.

Intricate engraving adorns the Uberti Sharps Extra Deluxe rifle, which includes a beautifully detailed side-view of an engraved and gold-inlaid bison and a bison's head.

Uberti's 1874 Extra Deluxe and Deluxe Sharps feature barrels with a dovetailed front globe sight to be used in conjunction with a rear tang-mounted Creedmoor sight.

The receiver on Uberti's 1874 Deluxe Sharps, single-shot .45-70 rifle is color case-hardened and embellished with a gold-inlaid bison head.

DELUXE SHARPS – 34"

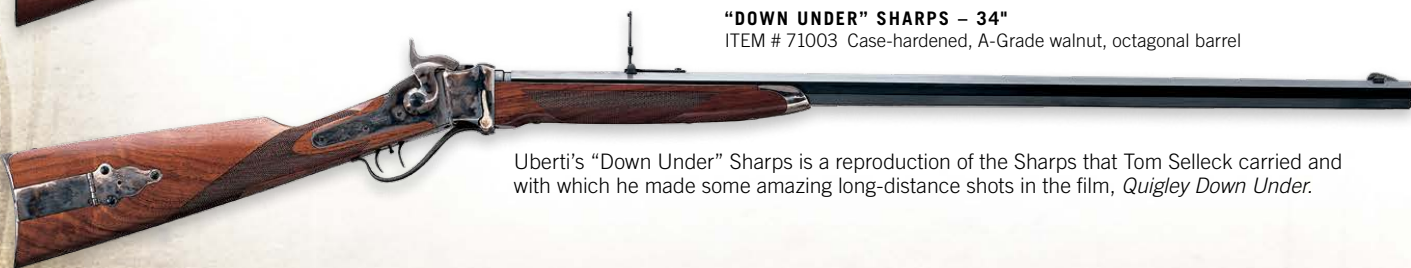

ITEM # 71002 Case-hardened, AA-Grade walnut, octagonal barrel

Uberti's Deluxe Sharps features an AA-Grade checkered walnut stock and fore-end and comes with a Creedmoor tang sight.

"DOWN UNDER" SHARPS – 34"

ITEM # 71003 Case-hardened, A-Grade walnut, octagonal barrel

Uberti's "Down Under" Sharps is a reproduction of the Sharps that Tom Selleck carried and with which he made some amazing long-distance shots in the film, Quigley Down Under.

BUFFALO HUNTER SHARPS – 32"

ITEM # 71005 Case-hardened, A-Grade walnut, octagonal barrel

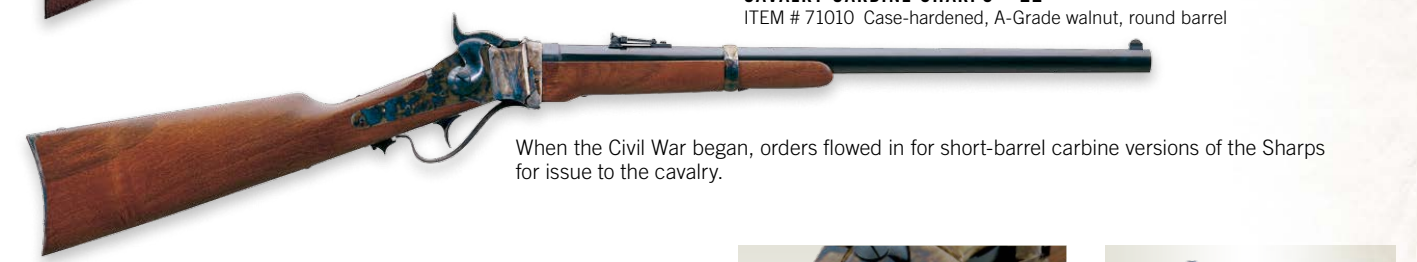

By the late 1870s, the Sharps long-range models became favorites of professional buffalo hunters. Heavy-barrel Sharps were used to take selected buffalo without spooking the herd.

SPECIAL SHARPS – 32"

ITEM # 71001 Case-hardened, A-Grade walnut, octagonal barrel

After the Civil War, Sharps rifles were adapted to fire metallic cartridges. They were used by the American Rifle Team to win the first international long-range rifle match at Creedmoor, Long Island, New York.

CAVALRY CARBINE SHARPS – 22"

ITEM # 71010 Case-hardened, A-Grade walnut, round barrel

When the Civil War began, orders flowed in for short-barrel carbine versions of the Sharps for issue to the cavalry.

All models of Uberti's 1874 Sharps rifles, excluding the Cavalry Carbine, feature double set-triggers, allowing the front trigger to be set to a very light pull-weight—an aid to accurate shooting.

The Creedmoor tang sights used on Sharps rifles were of three heights, depending on the yardage. The lowest, short-range sight was good to 300 yards, mid-range to about 600 yards and the long-range, to 1,200 yards and beyond.

The top tang on the Sharps receiver is drilled and tapped to accommodate the attachment of a Creedmoor rear sight.

The Creedmoor tang sights used on Sharps rifles were of three heights, depending on the yardage. The lowest, short-range sight was good to 300 yards, the mid-range to about 600 yards and long-range to 1,200 yards and beyond.

At very long range, with the rear sight elevated nearly to its limit, it was important to keep the rifle completely level to maintain accuracy. Consequently, front globe sights were often fitted with a spirit level so that the shooter could see that the bubble was centered and the gun was level before he touched the trigger.
